5th June 1936.

My dear Mr.Thumboo Chetty,

From a recent conversation I had with Sir Mirza, I understood that he was anxious to formulate a scheme for some suitable provision being made from State Funds for my children when they are married for their living expenses, marriage expenses dowry etc. He said that he would take up the question now so that a decision might be arrived at in time instead of taking up the question at the last moment, as the marriages of my son and my first daughter might come off in a year or two. Kindly submit this to His Highness and write to the Dewan to formulate a scheme as promised and have it submitted to His Highness as early as possible.

Yours sincerely,

Sd./-K.N.R.Wadiyar

Pension to the children of H.H. the Yuvaraja of Mysore

According to Sir K. Seshadri Iyer's memorandum dated 25th June 1899, the children of the Heir Apparent are entitled to pension as detailed below during the lifetime of the Heir Apparent:-

On attaining their majority, at rates specified in the scale for the Great-grandchildren of a Maharaja (Rs 15,000 in the case of sons and Rs 9,000 in the case of daughters).

Payment of pension from the date of marriage instead of attaining majority (16 for the son and 14 for the daughter) appears to have also been contemplated (vide Residency letter dated 2nd July 1891.)

The provision of pension for the children of the Heir Apparent, even when the larger pension of their father is in force, has not been referred to subsequent in Sir Seshadri Iyer's memorandum.

The children of a son of the Maharaja, (other than the Heir Apparent) are not entitled to any pension during the life-time of their father and thereafter are entitled to a pension of Rs 36,000 per annum in the case of sons and Rs 10,000 per annum in the case of daughters.

If Sir Seshadri Iyer's scheme is strictly applied, in the case of the children of H.H. the Yuvaraja, they will not be entitled to a pension during his lifetime. I would, however, suggest that in the present circumstances, and taking all points into consideration, Sir Seshadri Iyer's memorandum may be modified to some extent in the case of the children of H.H. the Yuvaraja and the following pensions sanctioned to them from the date of marriage:-

Pension of Rs 3,000 per mensem or Rs 36,000 per annum in the case of the son;

Pension of Rs 2,000 per mensem or Rs 24,000 per annum in the case of each daughter.

Serial
No.Pension to the children of H.H. the Yuvaraja.

The underlying idea of Sir K. Seshadri Iyer's scheme of Pensions to the Members of the Ruling Family is that no pension is admissible to any member during the lifetime of his father or mother in receipt of ^a larger pension. ~~xxxxxx~~ In ~~xxxxxx~~ Sir Seshadri Iyer's first memorandum, dated ^{the} 25th June 1890, ~~xxxxxx~~ an exception was made in the case of the children of the Heir-Apparent and they were to get pensions on the following scale:-

Son Rs 18,000 a year

Daughter Rs 9,000 a year.

But in ^{the} his second memorandum dated 12th January 1893, no such exception is made and it is laid down that "a pension shall be payable to any individual member only upon the death of his or her father or mother as the case may be." For example, during the lifetime of a Maharaja, his offspring will get no pension but must expect to be provided for by their father out of their Civil List. Similarly, if after a Maharaja's death, one of his sons gets a pension of Rs 1 lakh, during such son's lifetime his children will get no pension."

Strictly speaking, therefore, the children of H.H. the Yuvaraja are not entitled to any pension whatever. If it is, however, His Highness the Maharaja's desire that an exception ^{shall} may be made in the case of his brother's children, having regard to present circumstances, I would make the following suggestions:-

(1) The son of His Highness the Yuvaraja may be given an allowance of Rs 36,000 a year as against Rs 18,000 proposed by Sir Seshadri Iyer in the first memorandum for the son of the Heir-apparent.

(2) The daughters may each be given Rs 24,000 a year as against Rs 9,000 a year proposed by Sir Seshadri Iyer.

(3) The allowances which will in the aggregate amount to Rs 1,08,000/- ^{eventually} may be granted to them from the date of attaining majority (according to ^{the 18 years} Hindu Law) or from the date of marriage, whichever ^{is} earlier.

ceases. Though he had made an exception in the case of the children of the Heir. Apparent in his memorandum of 1890, he subsequently omitted it in his final memorandum of 6th March 1903.

In case His Highness should desire to grant pensions, the scales proposed above appear to be quite fair. It may, perhaps, be thought that the pension in the case of the son of the Heir. Apparent would be less than that of the son of the late Second Princess. But this analogy will not apply as the latter is the sole surviving representative of one branch of the late His Highness the Maharaja's family.

JPD

I am also in agreement with the views expressed in the note

RM
23/12/36,

Submitted to His Highness.

With reference to the Huzur Secretary's D.O. letter No. 24 dated the 8th June 1936 conveying His Highness's gracious order that a scheme for making some suitable provision from the State Funds for the children of His Highness the Yuvaraja may be formulated for consideration, I beg to submit the accompanying file of papers on the subject.

The underlying idea in Sir K. Seshadri Iyer's scheme of Pensions to the members of the Royal Family has been that no pension is admissible to any member during the lifetime of his or her father or mother in receipt of a pension. In his first memorandum, dated the 25th June 1890, an exception was, however, made in the case of the children of the Heir-Apparent and they were to get pensions on the following scale:-

Son	..	Rs 18,000/- a year
Daughter	..	Rs 9,000/- a year.

But in Sir Seshadri Iyer's second memorandum, dated the 12th January 1893, no such exception is made and it is laid down that "a pension shall be payable to any individual member only upon the death of his or her father or mother as the case may be. For example, during the lifetime of a Maharaja, his offspring will get no pension but must expect to be provided for by their father out of their Civil List. Similarly, if after a Maharaja's death, one of his sons gets a pension of Rs 1 lakh, during such son's lifetime his children will get no pension."

Strictly speaking, therefore, the children of His Highness the Yuvaraja are not entitled to any pension whatever during the lifetime of their father. Since, however, it is His Highness the Maharaja's desire that an exception should be made in the case of these children, having regard to present circumstances, I would make the following suggestions:-

- (1) The son of His Highness the Yuvaraja may be given an allowance of Rs 36,000/- a year as against Rs 18,000/- proposed by Sir Seshadri Iyer in the first memorandum for the son of the Heir-Apparent.

- (2) The daughters may each be given Rs 24,000/- a year as against Rs 9,000/- a year proposed by Sir Seshadri Iyer.
- (3) These allowances, which will in the aggregate amount to Rs 1,08,000/- a year eventually, may be granted to them from the date of attaining majority (according to Hindu Law, that is, 18 years) or from the date of marriage, whichever is earlier.

It is not without considerable hesitation that I am submitting these proposals for the consideration of His Highness. I feel that if provision has to be made for His Highness the Yuvaraja's family, such provision must be fairly substantial. At the same time, it is certain that any large addition to the standing charges of administration will be viewed by the public with dissatisfaction. I have accordingly endeavoured, in consultation with the Members of Council, and the Financial Secretary, to formulate the most liberal scale of allowances that could be adopted with any show of justification on public grounds in the present condition of the State's finances. And I trust that His Highness may find these proposals helpful in coming to a decision on a difficult question which, I know, has been engaging his most anxious consideration.
